

TITLE:

Learning strategies of students at high school

SUMMARY:

The bachelor thesis is focused on learning strategies of students at high school with learning disabilities. The task of the theoretical part is to describe principles, methods and compensation aids. The theoretical part I drew from the scientific literature. The aim of my thesis is to reveal learning strategies which students use. I have achieved the aim by using my survey and case studies. According to the survey, most students learn unsystematically and they don't use enough learning strategies.

KEYWORDS:

Specific learning disorders, learning methods, compensation aids, high school